Relevant Statutory Laws and Court Procedures:

1. The Specific Relief Act, 1877:

* Section 8: Suit by person dispossessed of immovable property. "If any person is dispossessed without his consent of immovable property otherwise than in due course of law, he may, by suit, recover possession thereof." This section allows a person dispossessed from immovable property to file a suit for possession.

* Section 9: Suit by person dispossessed of immovable property. "If any person is dispossessed without his consent of immovable property otherwise than in due course of law, he may, by suit, recover possession thereof." This section focuses on a summary remedy for illegal dispossession, without going into the question of title.

2. The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908:

* Order XXI, Rule 35: Decree for immovable property. This rule outlines the procedure for execution of a decree for immovable property, including delivery of possession.

* Order VII, Rule 1: Particulars to be contained in plaint. This rule specifies the necessary details to be included in a plaint when initiating a civil suit, such as the name of the court, name and address of parties, facts constituting the cause of action, and the relief claimed.

3. The Transfer of Property Act, 1882:

* Section 44: Transfer by one co-owner. "Where one of two or more co-owners of immovable property legally competent in that behalf transfers his share of such property or any interest therein, the transferee acquires, as to such share or interest, so far as is necessary to give effect to the transfer, the transferor's right to enforce a partition of the property." This section outlines the rights of a transferee of a share from a co-owner, emphasizing the right to seek partition.

4. The Pakistan Penal Code, 1860 (Relevant for potential criminal aspects of illegal occupation):

* Section 441: Criminal trespass. "Whoever enters into or upon property in the possession of another with intent to commit an offence or to intimidate, insult or annoy any person in possession of such property, or having lawfully entered into or upon such property, unlawfully remains there with intent thereby to intimidate, insult or annoy any person in possession of such property, or with intent to commit an offence, is said to commit 'criminal trespass'."

* Section 447: Punishment for criminal trespass. "Whoever commits criminal trespass shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both."
