CASE SUMMARY REPORT

User Problem:

The user is facing a land encroachment issue, stating "Meri zameen pe qabza ho gaya hai" (My land has been encroached upon/occupied).

Case Category and Confidence:

Property Dispute - 95% Confidence.

Rights Summary:

- * Right to recover possession of immovable property if dispossessed without consent and not by due process of law.

Readiness Score with Breakdown:

Readiness Score: 0/100 (Not Ready)

Breakdown:

- * Documents: 9
- * Witnesses: 0
- * Urgency Penalty: -20
- * Total: 0

Missing Documents with Costs:

- * CNIC: Critical, 1-2 weeks, Rs. 750-2500 (NADRA office or online portal)
- * Land Record (Fard): Critical, a few hours to days, Rs. 500-1500 (Local land record office)
- * Witness Statements: High, 1-2 days, lawyer's fee may apply (Drafted with lawyer, signed by witnesses)
- * Photos/Video of Encroachment: High, immediately, Free (Self-taken)
- * Previous Court Orders: Medium, 1-5 days, nominal court fees (Court record room or previous lawyer)
- * Property Tax Receipts: Medium, a few hours, Free if already paid (Excise and Taxation department)

Key Risks Highlighted:

- * Do NOT attempt to reclaim your land through illegal force or violence. This can lead to new criminal charges against you and weaken your legal standing. Always follow legal channels.
- * Be extremely cautious of individuals (other than your appointed lawyer or court-appointed mediators) who claim they can 'settle' the matter quickly outside of court for a large sum of money, especially if they pressure you to sign documents without proper legal review.
- * Ensure all your property documents (such as title deeds, Fard, revenue records, and tax receipts) are authentic and up-to-date. Fake or forged documents are a common issue in property disputes, and your lawyer should verify them.
- * If anyone pressures you with 'settlement baher karo' (settle outside) without proper legal representation or transparent terms, do not agree or sign anything. Always consult your lawyer before entering into any out-of-court settlement.
